

PUBLISH YOUR OWN E-CONTENT VIA EBRARY TODAY AND SAVE $$$!

INTRODUCING A SPECIAL OFFER FOR ACADEMIC LIBRARIES AND CONSORTIA

Burgundy Information Services is delighted to announce this special introductory offer from ebrary.

Provided you have the digital rights to do so, you can now use the same ebrary technology that you may already use to access ebook content to distribute your own special collections, theses, dissertations, faculty papers and articles and ebooks that you have created in-house or which you have purchased from publishers and other vendors. In fact, assuming that you have digital rights to do so you can use the ebrary e-publishing system to archive and distribute any documents in PDF across your network to staff, students and researchers.

All you need to do is submit your files to a secure FTP site that is created and managed by ebrary and they can then create a searchable database for your e-content that integrates with your existing ebrary subscriptions, other online resources within your library and potentially with any other web-based information or resource based on your own requirements. Users then benefit from this integration of resources and the familiarity of a system offering the same easy-to-use ebrary interface, features and rich functionality that they are already used to.

WHAT DOES IT COST?

ebrary is currently offering special introductory pricing to academic libraries and consortia. All we ask for from you is that orders must be received before the end of May 2009 and that all documents for upload must be received before the end of December 2009.

Pricing is based on the number of documents that you choose to submit per institution.

No. of documents	Price in Year 1	Avg. Cost per Document
up to 500	US$1,000	US$2.00
up to 1,000	US$1,750	US$1.75
up to 2,000	US$3,000	US$1.50
up to 3,000	US$4,000	US$1.33
up to 4,000	US$5,000	US$1.25
up to 5,000	US$6,000	US$1.20

If you have a subscription to an ebrary subject bundle or to their Academic Complete collection you don't have to pay any additional hosting fees.

If you don't have an existing subscription you will be required to pay a hosting fee each year. This fee represents 20% of the cost of your document submission fees based on the pricing outlined above.

Example: if you are paying US$1,000 to upload up to 500 documents your hosting fee would be calculated based on the following: $US$1,000 * 20\% = US\200 .

Multi-year quotes are available upon request.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

There are three easy steps to follow:

STEP 1 - Before submitting files, confirm that you have adequate legal rights to make your content available to your users via ebrary's hosted e-publishing system (a contract addendum provides the specifics).

STEP 2 - Check that your PDF files meet ebrary's requirements for submission. Corresponding metadata must be supplied in ebrary specified format (see attached guidelines).

STEP 3 - Submit your PDF files and Metadata sheet to ebrary's secure FTP site.

Once you submit your PDF files and metadata, ebrary will do the following:

- Create an interactive online database containing just your e-content.
- Integrate your database so that your content will be fully indexed and may be searched along with any existing ebrary product(s) you may have.
- Optionally, provide the database of your content at a unique ebrary URL, which you can also customize with a unique InfoTools menu and home page with your library logo and other messaging.
